LIFE SENTENCE

Once More Given to Caleb Powers at Georgetown.

Stronger Case Made Out Against Him Than at the Former Trial.

Georgetown, Ky., Oct. 26.—A second time a jury has fixed a life sentence upon Caleb Powers as an accessory to the murder of William Goebel. The verdict was read by J. B. Calvert, the chum of Powers' Scholastic days at State College. The jury was given the case at 2:21 o'clock this afternoon and forty-nine minutes later the verdict was reported. A motion for a new trial was overruled, sentence was passed and judgment suspended pending an appeal, and to-night Powers is again confined in the Franklin county jail to await the decision of the State's highest court.

SOME FAVORED HANGING.

It is learned to-night upon good authority that three jurors voted on the first ballot to hang Powers. Two others said they were willing to vote the same way with the first three, but the remaining seven insisted on a life sentence, and the others readily agreed on that verdict.

DEATH RESULTED

From Congestion, Superinduced By Eating Wild Grapes.

A son of Mr. John Davis, of Haley's Mill, aged about fifteen years, died last Wednesday of congestion. He ate heartily of hickory nuts and wild grapes the Sunday before and the following night symptoms of colic developed. His bowels became locked and death resulted two days later. He was a very bright and promising youth and his death is much regretted by a large circle of friends.

The father of deceased is a well-known merchant at Haley's Mill.

RINGSTER TELLS

Of the Dismal Outlook For the Court House Gang.

Several of the Boys Are Almost Ready to Take to Their Beds.

The air is plus around headquarters this week. It is awful to see the looks of distress on the faces of the King candidates and hear them abusing each other for handicapping the ticket. Everybody is accusing everybody else of being the Jonah, and no matter which way we look we see a fusion whale with his mouth wide open.

John Prowse made a break the other day that is going to lose Grancy to the Ring ticket next Tuesday. One day last week Harrison Bros. gave a "negrominstrel" show at Grancy. The performers were full-blooded sons of Ham and the show they put up was attended by the best people of Grancy. The town authorities could find no law to tax the show except $50 for a tented exhibition" and as it was not this kind of a show they passed the proposition up to John. Deputy Clerk Will Wicks took up the problem and finally made the Harrisons pay $5 for giving a "trained animal show." The show men protested that their colored men were not animals, but genuine artists and professional entertainers, but nothing but cash would satisfy the demand from the county clerk's office. Now the colored population around Grancy are hopping mad because the colored minstrels were classed as "trained animals" by the young man representing one of the Ring candidates. Some of them are even saying that the five dollar bill was needed to boot the boys with an election day, and make them forget the past.

This reminds me that Dr. Nance, a prominent Grancy man, is also chewing a rag because he says John held him up and made him pay a license of $2.50 on a mascot line. The Doctor now says he has had a lawyer to look up the matter and there was no authority for collecting the license and that when he pointed this out to Mr. Prowse, John told him it was too late to correct the mistake. I am afraid John is going to lose the Doctor's vote this time.

When Judge Winfree asked John Elland not to break up any more fusion meetings about ten days ago, it played thunder with John's usefulness in the campaign. John set out for Louisville about a week ago and we thought he had taken another tack and had gone to pull Debos' leg. As we need money and lots of it and John Prowse and Jack Tate are tired having their legs pulled, we were glad to have John touch the old man for a few thousand. But John staid and staid and the first thing we knew Debos was back at home and John was tearing it out in Louisville with a bucket of red paint in one hand and a brush in the other. Otto Anderson, who is beginning to doubt everything, doesn't believe John will get enough money in Louisville to keep Newstead's 150 majority from getting away from the Ring. And the Lord knows when Newstead wavers, the bottom is about ready to drop out of our whole shebang.

IN A REMINISCENT VEIN.

I. K. Felch Tells of His Early Acquaintance With Several Varieties of Fowls.

The White Plymouth Rocks may legitimately claim lineal descent from the Plymouth rocks, for their first ancestors were pure albino products of the barred family.

In the winter of 1876, at Bangor, Me., Mr. Frost exhibited the first six White Plymouth Rocks. I was judging the exhibition. He offered to give me one of the trios; but instead of taking them, I advised him to go on breeding them, telling him I did not see why the same law that allowed pigeons would not allow albinism in fowls. I knew well from Blue Rock pigeons mated together often breed white. This he conceded to do, and bred them under the name of "Dirigas." Others secured them, and by some they were called, "Snowflakes" for a time; but when adopted by the American Poultry Association they went into the Standard as "White Plymouth Rocks."

They were less troubled with feathered shanks during their early days than their blue ancestors. Like all albinos, they seemed to lack the hardness of the colored birds, and fluctuated in their hold upon the breeders, so that their classes in our exhibitions were never large ones. This condition has been influenced much by the prevailing belief that all white breeds are less hardy than the colored ones, but since the White Wyandottes—a seemingly hardy white variety—have become so popular that prejudice is dying out, the White Rock variety has taken on new life, and to-day we find the breed regaining the favor of the fanciers.

From the day these first albinos were shown, up to 1890 and '91, they passed a varied existence, under many adverse circumstances and a strife for general acceptance when at the Indianapolis meeting for that year they were placed on the list of thoroughbred fowls; but I can assure the public that never in any exhibition for the twenty-five years since their introduction, has there been exhibited six birds of this breed better in shape, in color, or with brighter orange legs than those six at Bangor in the winter of 1896.

During their early history the most trying defects were bluish green under the scales in form of the shanks and the white so prevalent in the earlobes; but all exhibits were held rigidly up to the law for disqualification for white in earlobes, and shanks yellow than yellow, until by rigid selection the race appeared in the color the Standard demanded.

There were several attempts to swallow them up under other names. "White Middlesex" was one. Single comb white fowls with smooth yellow shanks were thus showed at Buffalo, but under that head failed to be recognized.

It will be noticed that the White Rocks plodded along for fourteen years before they secured Standard recognition. It matters not who besides may claim their production and introduction, to Mr. Frost belongs the honor.

One cannot well write of them exclusively, for the present product is so closely connected with the White Wyandottes that give an accurate history they must be acknowledged as, in their present form, an amalgamation of blood.

Notwithstanding the fact that the White Rock antedated the White Wyandotte ten full years, we see that the White Wyandottes were accepted and placed in our Standard (1891 edition) the same year as the Rocks. The White Wyandotte was first brought to notice by the Rev. Mr. Briggs, then living in Ohio, some four years or more before they were accepted.

Their early history also was checkered—but here let me digress a bit. We had, all of us, learned by this time that no albino had a long life unless its blood was strengthened by an infusion from other albino blood, and working on this knowledge, different breeders resorted to crosses for the above purpose. Albino males from Silver Laced Wyandottes were the most prevalent, and later, when the pure albinos were bred together, predominated, the females more generally reverting to the original Wyandotte color. Males were secured, and small combed White Rock hens bred with them. This was the most satisfactory yet. Rose Combed, yellow legged Hamburgs, and Rose Combed White Leghorns (then in their infancy) were also used in the manipulation of the White Wyandotte in its early stages.

Still another element has crept in to better the size, constitution, and size and color of eggs, to wit—the smooth legged White Wonder, (so called) these being produced from the cross of White Wyandotte males upon albinos Brahma hens. To this cross we are indebted for the large dark shelled eggs in many of the Wyandotte flocks of the present day.

It is a significant fact that a specimen with white plumage in the Rocks more generally favors the Wyandotte type, while Wyandotte females with creamy color and yellow quill are more liable to be elongated and slightly convex shaped, thus favoring the Rock type. Small boned, short bodied light weight Wyandottes are traced, in the majority of cases, to either excessive use of the incubator, or to those families in which White Hamb burg blood was used in their early history, while weight and slightly elongated bodies of recent date are traced unmistakably to the Brahma blood brought to such families through the Wonder cross of White Wyandotte-Brahma origin.

The foregoing are all facts within the knowledge of the writer. Our exhibitions demonstrate which of the several families now on the boards are best appreciated.

There is no denying the fact that the Brahma infusion of blood has given constitution, and larger frames, and more uniform size, and color to the eggs, and thus far done more to make the White Wyandotte a fixture and a popular favorite among the white plumed fowls of the land than any other cross used to give life and strength to albinism.

That the Hamburg cross may not be misunderstood,—be it known that the Standard for a time admitted White Hamburgs with yellow legs. The limitation on them expired about the time of the admission of the Rose Comb White Leghorns and White Wyandottes. Thus you see they were utilized with both White Leghorns and White Wyandottes, and finally absorbed by those two breeds. I remember that on receiving some White Wyandotte eggs from a certain breeder I returned half of the eggs with a note saying that I was not buying Hamburg and Leghorn eggs as White Wyandotte eggs.

That season there was a great call for White Wyandotte eggs,—so great that a in a single week I sold $100 worth of them.

The breed has come out of its transition state the strongest, and best breeding, and most popular of any breed of albino origin that the country has ever known.

The American Dominique. Here is a breed that should be immortalized as the ancestor of America's first and most popular breed. The Barred Plymouth Rock. It gave birth to a breed that, because of clearer color and greater weight, supplanted it.

The early specimens (from 1840 to 1860) in New England were universally those of single comb, and called "the hawk colored fowls" by the farmers of those days. These were the ancestors that figured in the makeup of the Plymouth Rocks prior to 1865. But the best, and those of the rose comb which ultimately brought them into our Standard as the American Dominique, were of french origin; the best specimens the writer ever saw, being those at Chicago's first exhibition in 1866, by Colonel Howard.

For a number of years, up to the advent of the Plymouth Rocks, these were one of the most popular of ordinary sized fowls. Since this family has been allowed to drop into oblivion we have never seen their equal in any exhibition. Is it not a fact that for the past twenty years not a pen of them strictly first class, as described by the Standard, has appeared?

The Plymouth Rock surpassed the Dominique, and caused its downfall. That, at their best they are a unique and beautiful breed, none can deny, and as an exhibition variety it is a wonder to me that they are not resuscitated and made to embellish our many exhibitions. The far reaching demand that utility must accompany exhibi-

Building

Requires a foundation. That is just as true of the building up of the body as of the building of a house. The foundation of a strong body is a strong stomach.

A weak stomach means a weak man. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures disorders of the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition. It enables the perfect digestion and assimilation of the food which is eaten. This is body and mind, and restores strength in the only way known to Nature or to science—by digesting and assimilated food.

"While living in Charlotte, N. C., my mother, who had been a invalid for ten years," writes J. L. Lumens, "I, that time life was a struggle to me after spending hundreds of dollars under numerous physicians, and was reduced to 120 pounds. In twenty days after I commenced Dr. Pierce's treatment I weighed 170 pounds, and in six months I weighed 170 pounds, and was in perfect health. I have never felt the slightest uneasiness since. I now eat meat, fish, eggs, and all kinds of food, and in perfect health, and weigh 160 pounds. I would not return to the condition I was in for anything." Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets assist the action of the "Discovery," when a laxative is required.

Building merit so controls the fancier today that to secure a lasting hold upon the breeders, and long life to a breed, utility is absolutely necessary. No one can name a breed, however beautiful in plumage, that has not a degree of merit in egg production compared with the best three or four in our list of thoroughbreds, that has secured more than a fleeting existence. Even those who need not consider usefulness in catering to their taste for the beautiful, seem in poultry culture to retain only those breeds which sell, —the excitement being principally in the fact that they can make money in fowl culture.—I. K. Felch in Farm Poultry.

Bowing Green, Ky., June 12, 1901.—Dr. E. W. Hall, St. Louis, Mo.—Dear Sir: We have been selling your Hall's Great Discovery, for two years and recommend it to any one suffering with any kind of trouble as being the best remedy we have ever sold.

Leg Weakness.

There are, seemingly, many causes of leg weakness, among them being hereditary tendency to this disease, over-eating of meat and rich feed, and bottom heat brooders. Hereditary weakness is a hard thing to handle, and we would suggest that the chick be killed if it is in really bad shape and there is known to be a weakness of the kind in its ancestors. If you have been feeding chicks heavily, cut down the rations and keep the afflicted chicks perfectly warm and dry, and keep them apart from the stronger chicks. If they are treated in this way and are fed a diet consisting principally of hulled oats and millet, nine chances out of ten they will be well and strong within three or four days. Avoid bottom heat brooders of all kinds, as the experience of poultry raisers in general is that chicks kept in such brooders are apt to suffer in this way.—Mich. Poultry Breeder.

The Plymouth Rock surpassed the Dominique, and caused its downfall. That, at their best they are a unique and beautiful breed, none can deny, and as an exhibition variety it is a wonder to me that they are not resuscitated and made to embellish our many exhibitions. The far reaching demand that utility must accompany exhibi-

Houdan.

The reasons why more Houdan fowls are not bred by poultrymen other than fanciers are several:

- Most persons do not know of their real worth.
- The fancier has not turned his show eye in the direction of the fleshy bird; and hence
- The fad is not prejudiced in Houdan favor.
- Folks say the Houdan crest prevents them from seeing hawks and other poultry; and so on and so on.

It is an old breed. This is another reason many persons do not breed this bird, because many persons must have a thing that is new or odd in appearance or nothing.

The best evidence that the Houdan is an excellent breed is seen in the fact that those persons who have handled it for a number of years are slow to dispense it for any other. They see it is highly meritorious and so keep it in preference to every other known breed.

There is one feature of the Houdan that very much mars its beauty unless it is bred right—the crest and beard. But this is comparatively easy of accomplishment, and then it is really a mark of beauty.

A few of the many points of true excellence it possesses are these:

- Quick to grow and feather as soon as the Wyandotte, Rock, or Brahma.
- Fertility of eggs, nearly every one producing a chick under favorable conditions.
- Early laying of pullets.
- Great productiveness of the females, hens 3 to 5 years old laying nearly as well as when they were young.

(5) Large ness of the eggs and its pure white shell.

(6) Ease of confinement and perfect contentment in restricted yards.

(7) Almost perfect quality as a table fowl, both as to flavor of flesh and the very small percentage of waste in dress. The bones of the bird are very small, as are the entrails.

(8) Beauty of plumage, when desired, because it is one of the easiest breeds to produce in an attractive feather.

(9) Longevity of the bird life.

(10) Excellency as mothers when now and then one wishes a brood. It is classed as a non-incubating fowl, but quite a good percentage of the elderly females are liable to set.

Are these qualifications not sufficient to entitle it to better recognition? Why do not more breed them? I have tried partially to answer the question, but in the face of the opposition those who adopt the Houdan as "one of the family" never more have cause to regret the adoption. Really there is not a better fowl in America or any other country.—California Cultivator.

Columbian Wyandottes.

This new variety of Wyandottes was originated by the Rev. B. M. Briggs, of Blackstone, Mass. He states that he originally started with a White Wyandotte male and Barred Rock female, and continued in that line without using any other breeds to cross in. He, of necessity, had to interbreed to some extent before he could produce a fixed type of birds. One breeder has used a Silver Wyandotte male, in one of his crosses, with some success.

Columbian Wyandottes are an exceptionally handsome fowl, having all the nature characteristics of the Wyandotte family, clear yellow legs, neat rose comb, red ear lobes, and the Wyandotte shape. They are white in color, with the beautiful markings of the Light Brahma. In size, they are fully Standard weight. They are hardy, mature quickly, are easily fattened, and as their skin is a rich golden yellow, are without a peer as a table fowl. They are not over broody, make good sitters, and careful mothers. They have proved themselves to be the equal of their sister varieties as layers, and I think that it is only a question of time when they will be as popular as the latter. W. B. Richardson.

Get the Most Out of Your Food

You don't and can't if your stomach is weak. A weak stomach does not digest all that is ordinarily taken into it. It gets tired easily, and what it fails to digest is wasted.

Among the signs of a weak stomach are uneasiness after eating, fits of nausea, headache, and disagreeable belching.

"I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla at different times when I had trouble with my digestion, and it has greatly benefited by its use. I would not without it in my family. I am troubled especially when I have a weak stomach and nausea, and find Hood's Sarsaparilla invaluable." E. B. HICKMAN, W. Chester, Pa.

THE FIGHT IS WON.

The Fusion ticket will be elected in its entirety next Tuesday. It will receive 4000 votes and be elected by majorities ranging from 300 to 500.

The movement of the people against boss rule and machine government in Christian county will be rebuked in thunder tones. The Democrats are practically solid in their support of the ticket, which is under their regular party device and has received the sanction of the party organization from top to bottom. Democrats have nothing to do but to join hands with the good citizens of other parties who are co-operating with them in the fight for reform in county matters. The two Republicans on the fusion ticket are men of the best character, upright Christian gentlemen, who are on the ticket because the nominations were tendered them unsought. As a Democratic newspaper of the strictest class, the KENTUCKIAN calls upon Democrats—even those who boast that they have never voted for a Republican—to vote for Croft, Littlefield, Major, and every other nominee whose name is under the rooster. Let Democrats be true and loyal to the agreement made in the interest of honesty and anti-ring rule and victory is sure. We have confidence in the gallant Democrats of old Christian. They are fighters themselves and they cannot but admire the brave fight Polk Cansler is making for the fusion ticket. He has for 20 years been an influential leader of his party, elected to office again and again. He has been associated officially and intimately with the two or three families of office-holders who have formed the Ring to control the politics of the county for exclusive benefit of themselves, and those who will acknowledge their omnipotence and do their bidding.

Judge Cranmer knows his game and he is leading the fight against them. The honest Republicans who trust him and are following his leadership know that his charges of rottenness and corruption are true and they are rallying to his standard by the hundred to aid in scourging the Ringsters from the places they have pre-empted for seven long years.

Let no Democrat who believes in good government fail to be in the thick of the fight one week from today.

Victory is in sight! The ripened fruit is waiting to be plucked! The fusionists have the country well organized! They have the strength of a just cause! They have all the elements of success at hand! They have the votes to do the business! They are ready and eager for the fray! The enemy is in full retreat! Now for the final charge! Up guards and at them!

No more troops will be sent to the Philippines, but about 7,000 of the soldiers there will be allowed to return home by March. From the latest figures given out by the war department there have so far been 3,493 American lives sacrificed in the Philippines and 2,600 other soldiers wounded. Of the dead, 700 were killed in battle and the rest died of disease, wounds and accidents, while 56 have committed suicide.

A. L. Shaeffer, of Charleston, Ill., has just gathered a crop of 360 barrels of popcorn from 102 acres of ground. It is of the rice variety that is worth now 6 cents a pound, but as the crop is a short one, Mr. Shaeffer expects to get 10 cents a pound for his present supply.

Mrs. Anna Edison Taylor, a dancing teacher, on Oct. 24, went over the horsehoe-falls at Niagara in a padded barrel and came out alive but badly bruised. Two men set her afloat some distance above the falls, the barrel being weighted with an anvil, that kept it on one end. It passed over the falls and descended 159 feet with the heavy end downward and struck the deep water without being dashed to pieces on the rocks. The barrel was closed up and supplied with a rubber tube to admit air when the barrel was afloat. The woman escaped serious injuries. Her object is to enter a museum as the only human being who ever accomplished herfeat and survived.

Miss Margaret Schneider, a nineteen-year-old girl at Quincy, Ill., dropped dead in her partner's arms while dancing a two step with B. R. Coleman, a college student. The coroner's inquest was that she died of heart disease, brought on by overexertion.

CURIOS FACTS

Concerning the Presidents of the United States.

Mr. Frank O. Loveland, clerk of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, has been delving into history and has gathered some interesting facts concerning the Presidents of the United States. They are given brevity.

President Harrison, elected in 1840; Lincoln, in 1860; Garfield in 1880, and McKinley, in 1900, died in office. Their elections were precisely 20 years apart.

Of the three Presidents assassinated in office two were born in and elected President from Ohio.

The same state has been the birthplace of every Republican elected President of the United States, except Lincoln. Three of the four Presidents from Ohio have died in office.

Of the twenty-five Presidents of the United States three states have furnished more than one-half, and four states almost three-fourths of them.

Virginia has furnished five Presidents—Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe and Tyler. The first four served two full terms each and one succeeded to the presidency.

New York also furnished five Presidents—Van Buren, Fillmore, Cleveland, Arthur and Roosevelt. Of these three were elected Vice President and succeeded to the Presidency upon the death of the President elected.

Ohio has furnished four Presidents—Harrison, Hayes, Garfield and McKinley. Each of them was elected by the people except Hayes.

Tennessee has furnished three Presidents—Jackson, Polk and Johnson. The latter was elected Vice President and succeeded to the Presidency upon the death of Lincoln.

Thus it will be seen that of the twenty-five men who have been Presidents of the United States seventeen came from four states in the Union—Virginia, New York, Ohio and Tennessee.

Of the eight other Presidents Massachusetts furnished John Adams and John Q. Adams; Illinois, Lincoln and Grant; Pennsylvania, Buchanan; Louisiana, Taylor; Indiana, Benjamin Harrison, and New Hampshire, Pierce.

HAWKINS AND BAINBRIDGE.

Budget of Items From Neighborhoods of West Christian.

Hawkins, Ky., Oct. 22.—The tobacco crop is all in the house, except a very small amount long enough for Woolsey, which the neighbors will house Xmas and have a dance.

Sorghum making is the leading feature of the day, there being a very fine crop in this vicinity. The young people are always glad to see that time come, as they are sure to have a candy pulling.

The fusion ticket is gaining every day in this precinct.

Rossie, Ky., Oct. 22.—He preached a very enthusiastic sermon at Concord last Sunday to a large and attentive audience. He is doing much to build up the cause in this locality.

Miss Sophia Hopson, who has been visiting relatives in Livingston county for several months past, has returned home to her father's, Mrs. Richard Crow, of Bryson, who is visiting her father and mother, also other relatives in Hawkins. We will be sorry to see her take her leave for home.

Mr. and Mr. R. J. Hopson, of Casky, were visiting relatives in and near Hawkins since Saturday returning Tuesday.

Mr. Ernest Crow, of Carmel, Indiana, a great deal of chess and the boys say he thinks so much of them that he carries them in his hand when he goes visiting instead of wearing them.

Mr. Will Blades had a very serious accident one night last week. He and Martin Brown were out hunting. The dogs scared and they fell off a cliff, but caught to a limb before he reached the crags below. There he was suspended between heaven and earth without any prospect of relief. Thus he sends a dying message to Nellie, his wife, "Tell her to be patient, I did not die to get some meat." Then turning his head to take a last look at any human on earth, he said to Brown, "tell Nellie I'm going to heaven," and shutting his eyes he let go the limb and only fell about six inches. He hasn't been hunting any more.

Mr. Theodore G. Hiser, of Sinking Fork, has been down in our little city for several days, thinking the change would invigorate him. We are glad to have him with us, but are gratified to see the good results, because after he had been out only three times it was truly said that had he killed nine more he would have had ten.

ALWAYS READY.

Came Near Dying.

"For three days and nights I suffered agony until from an attack of cholera morbus brought on by eating cucumbers," says M. E. Lowther, clerk of the district court, Centerville, Iowa. "I thought I surely die, and tried a dozen different medicines but all to no avail. Finally I took a dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy and three doses relieved me entirely. I went to sleep and did not awake for eight hours. On awakening a few hours ago I felt so gratified that the work I'd been going to do in the office is to write to the manufacturer and thank him for his remedy. I told him I was grateful and offered them my grateful thanks and say, 'God bless you and the splendid medicine you make.' This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

BLOODSHED AT LAST.

Officer Bob Coffey Assassinated at Empire Saturday.

Stain While Searching the Woods
For a Party of Strikers
Who Fired on Guards.

The reign of lawlessness at Empire on Saturday culminated in the slaying of Robert H. Coffey, of this city, who had been for nearly a year in charge of the force of guards stationed at Empire.

On Saturday morning as John H. Fields, one of the guards, was escorting a number of miners to their work about 6 o'clock they saw a party of nine strikers on a hill across the railroad from the mines about half a mile away. The strikers opened fire at this range and the miners quickly got out of range of winchesters. Fields threw himself on the ground and returned the fire until reinforcements arrive under Deputy Sheriff Chas. J. Barnes and Chief Guard R. H. Coffey.

The strikers then ceased firing and disappeared over the hill. A squad of guards under George Lander started in pursuit on foot. Coffey borrowed a horse from Dr. Gooch and started through a pile of woods to head them off. Lander called out to him that he had better not expose himself alone, but he did not stop. This was the last seen of him until he was found dead four hours later. He was nearly two miles from the mines when found, near the house of Bayless Parker. Soon after he left, the guards heard three shots in that direction. As Coffey's gun was in his hand, the probabilities were that the three shots were fired at him from ambush, as he rode through the woods. His body was found lying on the right shoulder, the gun under him. The horse was grazing probably fifty yards away.

The fatal shot was a "mushroom bullet" from a rifle. It entered the left leg above the knee, severed an artery and spreading out tore a place almost as large as a man's hand on the inside of his leg. As the horse was unhurt, Mr. Coffey had probably dismounted when attacked. He was lying in a pool of blood, lifeless. He had bled to death at the funeral.

Dangerously Ill.
Mrs. Geo. W. Embry, of Howell, has been dangerously ill for several days and her death is expected at any time. She has typhoid fever.

Discoverer of Swamp-Root at Work in His Laboratory.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so disguised. Many sudden deaths are caused by heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to affect the kidneys the blood will be deprived of all its organs or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell, in the richness of the blood—the albumen also—and the sufferer will die. Bright's Disease is the worst form of kidney trouble. Kilmers' Swamp-Root is the new discovery is the true specific for kidney, bladder and urinary troubles. It has cured thousands of cases where all other remedies have failed. At druggists in fifty-cent dollar sizes. A sample bottle sent free, also a book telling about Swamp-Root and its specific cures. death in a very few moments.
The Inquest.
Coroner Allensworth went to Empire Saturday and held an inquest. Abe Long, B. A. Newcomb, Ed Long, S. M. Dulin, A. V. Rutland, Sr., and J. W. Price, were empaneled as a jury.

G. W. Lander was the principal witness, who detailed the facts given above. He was corroborated by B. F. Grant.

Deputy Sheriff C. J. Barnes stated that J. W. Anderson was suspected of the murder, as his shoes were found to fit the tracks leading from the place, after Anderson's arrest.

The jury returned a verdict of murder from a gunshot at the hands of parties unknown.

Before the finding of the body, Wm. and Ed Goldworthy, J. W. Anderson, Geo. Phillips, Ellis Dickard and two tramps named Barton, were arrested. Wm. Goldworthy resisted violently and attempted to shoot Deputy Barnes with a pistol snatched from John Fields' scabbard. He was overpowered and disarmed. The men were all brought to this city Saturday afternoon and lodged in jail.

Mr. Coffey's Funeral.

The body of the dead officer was brought to his home in this city, at 203 East 15th street, and funeral services were held at 3 o'clock by Rev. C. H. Nash, of the Baptist church. Afterwards the Masonic Lodge, of which the deceased had been a member, took charge of the body and buried it with Masonic honors in Hopewell Cemetery.

Mr. Coffey was 53 years old and a brave and efficient officer. He formerly lived in South Christian but later entered the service of the L. & N. Railroad as a special detective, which position he held until his health failed. He located at Guthrie and served a term as mayor of that town. Then he came to Hopkinsville and, having regained his health a year ago, he was employed by the Empire Coal Co. to guard its property. He had been there ever since and when the Sheriff's posse was sent he became one of the 30 deputies sworn in. He was the recognized leader and as such the strikers feared and hated him. He stated to friends when here two weeks ago that he was "marked" for slaughter by the lawless element, but he never hesitated a moment. He was absolutely fearless and the very man to deal with a lawless element. His intrepid courage made him reckless at times and this cost him his life.

He leaves a family of five children and the bereaved widow. He was twice married. His first wife was Miss Boyd and the second Miss Chalkley, of Virginia. He has three grown sons and two smaller children. Two of the sons, Asa and Bob, are in Honolulu. Frank is in the railroad business and was drest at the funeral.

The trials of five of the men arrested were called yesterday and continued until Thursday. Two tramps named Barton were released.

The officers believe they have the right men or at least a part of them.

There is much indignation felt at the assassination and while there is no immediate danger it would not take much more trouble to arouse a mob spirit.

BARNUM'S MONKEYS

"All well—all happy—lots of fun". That is the regular report from the monkey cage of Barnum's Circus ever since the keepers began dosing the monkeys with Scott's Emulsion. Consumption was carrying off two thirds of them every year and the circus had to buy new ones.

One day a keeper accidentally broke a bottle of Scott's Emulsion near the monkey cage and the monkeys eagerly lapped it up from the floor. This suggested the idea that it might do them good. Since then the monkeys have received regular doses and the keepers report very few deaths from consumption. Of course it's cheaper to buy Scott's Emulsion than new monkeys—and that suits the circus men.

Consumption in monkeys and in man is the same disease. If you have it or are threatened with it can you take the hint?

This picture represents the Trade Mark of Scott's Emulsion and is on the label of every bottle. Send for free sample.

DRIVING SNOW

And Freezing Weather Forecast
For Last of November.

Look For Storms of a Blizzardous
Character On or About 25th.

November weather, summarized from Hicks' forecasts, will be about as follows:

A reactionary disturbance will be central on 1st and 2nd, causing a rise in temperature, falling barometer and scattering storms and squalls of rain and snow from about 1st to the 3rd. A sharp, sudden rise of the barometer and change to colder will follow close after these disturbances, but a sudden change back to stormy conditions will come about the 5th in western extremes. The regular Vulcan storm period begins on the 5th, is central on the 10th and extends to the 10th. About Wednesday the 6th to Sunday the 10th, storms of wind, rain and snow will make their transit from west to east across the country. A decided cold wave will be advanced from the northwest before the low barometer and storms of this period reach the Atlantic. A sudden return to warmer, low barometer and rain and snow will be natural about Monday the 11th to Thursday the 14th. These reactionary storms will be followed by a more persistent and general change to wintry conditions, and sharp cold will be general over central and northern sections for several days, leading up to the Vulcan storm period central on the 18th. This Vulcan storm period extends from the 16th to the 20th. Some of the most decided storms of the month may be expected from about Sunday the 17th to Tuesday the 21st. These storms will reach a crisis on and touching the 10th, rain, wind and thunder being followed in many sections within a few hours by northwesterly gales, driving snow and change to freezing. The freezing weather following the last storms will react to warmer from the 23rd to 26th. Look for many more storms, largely of a blizzardous character, not more than forty-eight hours before or after sundown on the 25th, followed rapidly by a great rise of the barometer and a rushing cold wave that will be felt far to the south. Marked autumnal storms will be brewing, if not already in progress, as the month goes out.

This period will most likely fall in the opening days of December, but the first stages will be attended by very low barometer and change to much warmer, followed at first by general and heavy rains. Later the rain will turn to a general and destructive sleet, and this in turn to a real snow storm and blizzard over northern parts of the country.

LADY FROM PHILADELPHIA

She Was a Great-Grand-daughter of Benjamin Franklin.

Every one who has read the imitable "Peterkin Papers" remembers the "Lady from Philadelphia." She it was to whom the Peterkins turned when they didn't know what to do nor how to do it. Comparatively few persons, however, knew that the "Lady" really lived, that her name was Gillespie, and that her great-grandfather was Benjamin Franklin. These facts, which with many others equally interesting were brought out on the occasion of her death in Philadelphia the morning of October 13, lend additional interest to a new department just begun in the Ladies' Home Journal, called "The Lady from Philadelphia." The identity of the person who conducts this department is withheld. All that is vouchsafed is that the new "Lady" is an authority on all questions pertaining to etiquette, manners and good form, and each month in the Journal she will answer such questions regarding these points as may be sent in by young women.

Robert Brown, of Louisville, was elected President; A. H. Sinclair, of Lexington, First Vice-President; R. E. Riley, of Louisville, Secretary.

It Happened in a Drug Store.

"One day last winter a lady came to my drug store and asked for a brand of cough medicine," says R. C. Grandin, the principal druggist of Louisville. "She was disappointed and wanted to know what cough preparation I could recommend. I said to her that I could freely recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and that she gave me with the usual smile and after giving it a fair trial she did not find it worth the money to bring back the bottle and I would refund the price paid. In the course of a day or two the lady came back to my store and advised me of a new medicine which I advised her to buy. A bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I consider that a very good recommendation for the remedy." The remedy owes its great popularity and extensive sale, in a large measure to the personal recommendations of people who have been cured by its use. It is for sale by all druggists.

Buff Wyandottes.

This is one of the newer varieties of Wyandottes which has attained immense popularity, owing to exceeding beauty and usefulness. They were first brought out in the early 90's, and like the Buff Rocks, the Rhode Island Reds furnished the foundation blood. Whatever their make up, we care not today how they were produced, we have the most beautiful Wyandottes of them all—a grand market fowl and great layer.

Standard weight: Cock, 8½ pounds; cockerel, 7½ pounds; hen, 6½ pounds; pullet, 5½ pounds. They have bright red rose combs, pure red ears, yellow skin and legs. They have rich golden buff color with fine undercolor, and some of the best specimens have clear buff wings and almost pure buff tail. At the late big Detroit show the first cock and cockerel each scored 94% and they might be called pure buff—buff all over, even to tail. Such birds with buff tails are scarce and hard to secure yet, and are worth a lot of money.

As chicks, Buff Wyandottes are very hardy and grow and feather fast. They come out of the shell chunky little fellows like golden butter balls and with a determination to live. They are great foragers and can hustle for a living with any of them. They make grand broilers at an early age, as they are plump at all times. It is safe to say they are ready for market a little earlier than other breeds or varieties and will dress plumper and look better. As they are golden in color of skin and legs, they present a beautiful appearance when dressed and bring top prices; no blue skin or legs; no unsightly pin feathers; they look good to eat, tempting, and buyers pick them in preference to all others.

They are wonderful winter layers. They are the layers when eggs are scarce and prices high. Their low rose combs do not suffer in very cold weather and they shell out the eggs as though the weather was fine. Of course they have to be decently housed and cared for. They won't lay if fed on snow balls or wind or housed in the open air. Give them good houses and care, and as money producers they are a surprise. They will sit if allowed to do so, but are not hard to break up. They are very careful mothers and will raise their chicks as well as any variety.

The Buff Wyandotte can fairly claim to be the most beautiful fowl in America to-day. To all those who love to keep a beautiful fowl for beauty's sake as well as for profit, I recommend these fowls. A beautiful bird of this variety has only to be seen to be appreciated.

They breed nearly as true to color as any other Buff varieties. A large per cent come with buff hackles, pure red ears, Buff wings and nearly Buff tails. Common defects are black in neck, back, slate undercolor, white in earlobes and white or black in wings and tail. By careful selection from year to year a larger per cent of fine chicks are secured fit for breeding and exhibiting. Pulletts now reach a score of from 90 to 95 for good specimens and cocks and cockerels 90 to 94%. For beauty, for laying, for profit—try the Buff Wyandotte.—Thos. H. Mills, in Poultry Gazette.

THE SMALLEST MOTOR CAR.

The smallest motor-car in the world may be seen at the Pan-American exposition. It belongs to a minute person named Chi quota, who is 26 inches high. The car is a miniature duplicate, all complete, of a full-grown electric victoria and can run 2,000 steps. The step is four inches from the ground and the cushion is 14 inches wide. The 12-inch wheels have 1500-pneumatic tires, and the front and rear axles are 14 inches apart. Even with its hood up the car does not reach an ordinary man's elbow.

A DOG THAT KNOWS COLORS.

Shows a Decided Preference for Things That Are Red.

Among the many letters and notes which have come to me as a result of the account in the New York World of my cocker spaniel's action in licking the steam from the window that might be set out, one of the most interesting is from Dr. F. M. Kitchell, of Perth Amboy, who presented this Tracy to me.

The doctor says: "I saw your note concerning Tracy. Mrs. Kitchell says he is the brightest dog we ever had and suggests that you watch his actions over red flowers. He destroyed every red one in reach and paid no attention to other colors."

When this note came it had been already noticed that Tracy had a penchant for red. On a settle in the dining-room is a fine red velvet cushion, which is the more valued from the fact that it was some years ago a present from a friend who has long since dropped out of our life.

I was surprised on going down to dinner on the day after Tracy came to see this cushion turned bottom side up. I was told that it had been so turned because Tracy could not be kept off it.

"Does he care to be on it since it is turned over?" I asked.

"No."

"Is not its underside softer than its upper?"

"Much."

"It must be that he is endowed with the sense of color."

That this is true seemed to me much more probable from the fact that I was told that it was almost impossible to keep him out of the parlor, which is carpeted with a red Brussels.

It had also been noticed that in the sitting-room he from the very first showed a preference for a red carpet to lie upon rather than any one of several other things less hard and more desirable placed.

Remembering these facts, the suggestion which I have quoted from the doctor's note did not astonish me—if indeed, after 30 years of constant work in animal psychology, any relation as the possible manifestation of faculty by an animal could astonish me.

But I proceeded to watch Tracy's actions over red flowers.

At hand were some branches of japonica and bridal wreath. That the former is red and the latter white may as well be said, though I presume that everyone knows it. Without hesitation Tracy chose the japonica. I made the experiment again and again with different flowers. Tracy showed preference for the red flower every time.

I am glad to be able to add this to the abundance of proofs that I have that the dog is endowed with the sense of color.

TWO COSTLY CAMERAS.

Metal Work of One is of Gold—Silver or the Other.

A London firm of photographic apparatus makers, during the sojourn of the Moorish ambassadors, constructed a camera for the sultan of Morocco at a cost of $10,500. The instrument is of the quarter plate size (3½x4) and differs in no respects as regards the fittings from the ordinary camera made by this firm for general purposes.

The metal work of the camera is constructed of gold, including the screws, and also the holders for retaining the plates. The instrument occupies the service of ten men for four months, the polishing of the base boards alone requiring eight weeks.

Afterwards cold which is required to yield to the heat of the sun.

After taking two bottles, I was sold by Foley's.

Handling and Marketing Eggs.

If poultry men and farmers would take care of their eggs as they should, it should be an easy matter for many of them to get from three or five cents more per dozen than they are now getting, and in many instances ten to twelve cents more could be obtained. It is quite interesting to see what quality of stock the city markets are eager to pay for. We may look over the market quotations in the papers and price currents, but many times they represent only three-quarters of the price that can be secured for strictly fancy fresh eggs.

Now to get these extra prices, it should be well understood that the eggs must be all right, not a single bad egg must ever go in, for just so sure as a poor egg is found, the deal is off.

There are hundreds of families in all of the small cities, and in the villages they may be found by the score—who are ready and anxious to pay a premium for eggs that are known to be fresh, but stale eggs are bad things to do business with, in fact you can't do business with them at all. There is no one that wants to pay or will pay any fancy price for eggs, when they have got to break every one in a dish by itself, to see if it is fit to use. Neither do they want to go above the market price for small or dirty eggs.

I remember very well while handling eggs a few years ago, that I had one man in particular who furnished me with about thirty dozen a week, and I am sure there were not more than six dozen in the lot but what had more or less dirt on them. I tried to persuade him to clean them, but he said he had not the time, and could get no more for them if cleaned, and that, if I did not want them, the other buyers would gladly take them. Now such stock can never be made to look as clean and bright as that which is cleaned at once when taken from the nest, or better, never allowed to become soiled. And these people who are not particular to have their eggs in marketable condition are generally the ones who are as apt to put in stale eggs as fresh ones.

There are many farmers keeping from one to two hundred hens, who never sort or clean any of their eggs. But these are just the persons, who with a little extra care, should be able to get the fancy prices, for with the large number of hens, it would be an easy matter to fill a case in a very few days, and with nice, clean eggs of uniform size and color.

Different markets prefer particular colored eggs. Most New England markets pay a few cents extra for eggs of a uniform brown color.

Other markets demand pure white eggs.

We often hear people say, "What difference does it make about the color of the shell?" Well, it makes a good deal of difference, if we are able to get five or ten cents more per dozen for eggs of a certain color.

It may seem like a foolish fancy but it pays to cater to people's fancies when we are selling them goods. If you are keeping Plymouth Rocks or some other breed that lays brown eggs, and your market pays a little extra for white ones, it would be wise to make a change in breed, or it certainly would be a better policy to attempt to change the taste of the consumers.

All markets unite in paying only the highest prices for such as are of good size, not necessarily over-large.

It is plain to be seen, then, that to secure these fancy prices, purebred stock—or that which is very nearly so—must be kept, so as to have the eggs uniform in size and color. Then if the eggs are kept clean and marketed while fresh it will be an easy thing to get a premium on them.

Cats, Rats And Mice.

These three play havoc with the poultryman, and often try to take the management of the plant into their own hands.

The cats are such innocent looking creatures that we fail to give them their just verdict. A cat will eat small chickens by the dozen and larger ones will also go to help satisfy her hunger. Even larger ones than you would expect are taken by an old experienced cat. Cats are sly and seldom are caught in the act of catching chicks; yet most every cat will bear watching. A good cat is a valuable aid to a breeder; a bad cat is a valuable loss to him. It is quite a temptation to a cat, whose nature it is to prey upon such living animals, even if it never before had taken chicks. So a cat is always a suspicious character to have around among the chicks, and the first one that it catches is your most prized chick, or at least one of your best. If they once get in the habit of killing chicks you will have a task that is a hard one if you can cure them of it. If you keep the cat that has this habit, keep it shut up and not the chicks. Some may keep the chicks confined so the cat won't get them; better shut up the cat if it is your own, or better still dispose of it. And if a stray cat kills your birds, just give it a hard one if you can cure them of it. If you keep the cat that has this habit, keep it shut up and not the chickens. Some may keep the chicks confined so the cat won't get them; better shut up the cat if it is your own, or better still dispose of it. And if a stray cat kills your birds, just give it a load of shot.

Rats are harder to get at. You can easily kill the cat, as they can't hide so easily as rats. Of course cats are quick and sly, yet you can get rid of them if you want to. Now to get rid of rats when once they get a good hold, is a job. In the first place clean up all old rubbish, such as briar and weed patches and brush piles along the fences. Leave them no place to hide. You can poison them if there is no danger of killing anything else. Traps work well for a time, but generally the last few are pretty scary and afraid. Cats will soon clean them out unless they kill the chicks themselves; in such a case but few rats. The main point is to allow them no place to stay such as the brush piles, etc., mentioned above. Rat Terrier Dogs are excellent rat exterminators, as recommended by others. I have never used them, but see no reason why they are not valuable for such purposes.

Mice do not kill chickens, but they do eat plenty of grain and waste a lot more. A dozen mice will eat more grain than you would expect during the winter. Although do not kill chicks, yet I have had them kill squirrel pigeons for me, so pigeon breeders need to exterminate them. A good cat, traps, poisons, or rat dogs, will get rid of them.

Rats and mice have no place anywhere around a poultryman's buildings, and cats have no place there unless they are trusty ones, when they are valuable. Besides these there are many other thieves that are enemies of a poultryman. Wild animals, such as weasels, minks, foxes, owls and crows will always seize every opportunity to obtain fowls and chicks, both large and small. Besides, there is the two-legged thief that resembles a man in every way, yet honestly speaking he is not a man.

All these must be garded against. Good buildings and everything first class aids in all ways, not only to keep out thieves but to make success doubly sure.

Avoid all the wastes of your poultry work. Little things count up and make great things.

RURAL ROUTE

Will be Established From Here Through South Christian.

Congressman Allen Concurs in Recommendation of the Special Agent That This be Done.

Congressman Allen has been in the county for several days investigating the matter of rural free delivery and has given out his decision as follows:

"On the 27th of September I received a letter from the First Assistant Postmaster General, dated September 24th, stating that Special Agent H. G. Rising, in his report on rural free delivery from Hopkinsville, had recommended the continuance of the post offices at Church Hill, The Square and Beverly, and stating further that if I concurred in this recommendation to write the post office department specifically naming the offices to be discontinued, I immediately through the Hopkinsville papers, notified the people interested in these offices of the request made of me, in order that objection, if any, might be made to their discontinuance. Several days thereafter I received divers letters and two petitions signed by numerous persons protesting against the offices at Church Hill and Beverly being abolished. I forwarded these to the Postoffice Department with a letter from myself, declining to concur in Mr. Rising's recommendation that these offices be discontinued. On the 17th of October I received a letter from the General Superintendent of Free Delivery System, acknowledging receipt of petitions of protest, and stating that Rural Free Delivery service would not be established from Hopkinsville unless the offices at Church Hill, Caldonia, Beverly and The Square could be abolished.

Seeing that this ruling of the Department presented the proposition squarely that the establishment of Free Delivery would depend upon these offices being abolished, I immediately, by letters and through the Hopkinsville papers, notified the parties interested that I would be in Hopkinsville to investigate the matter with the view of doing what appeared to me to be the best for the greatest number of people. I have made this investigation, giving both sides an opportunity to be heard, and am of the opinion that Rural Free Delivery should not be defeated by retaining these offices, and I shall for that reason concur in the recommendation of the Special Agent that they be discontinued. I am aware of the fact that this action may result in hardship to some people served by these offices for a while, but I recognize the further fact that the greatest good to the greatest number of people will be obtained by the establishment of the route. I am an earnest advocate of Rural Free Delivery and regard it as the best institution for the farmer and country people in general within their reach.

H. D. ALLEN,
Member of Congress.

Do You Know Madame Qui Vive?

Probably you do, for Mae Qui Vive has natural reputation as an inspiring friend to every woman with a beauty woe. Her "Woman Beautiful" department in the daily and Sunday issues of THE CHICAGO RECORD HERALD is a perennial source of joyous helplessness to womankind.

Her instructions on complexion etc. are interlarded here and there with snappy little epigrams as "cheerers." The weapons she suggests to beauty seekers for the complete annihilation of beauty grievances do not include artificial methods—"factory" frizzles, rouge and other horrors being barred.

She gives instructions on correct breathing, what to eat, how to bathe—brief, how to become a healthy, wholesome woman. No wonder she is popularly known to many thousands of women.

The Grace Rentfrow Stock Co. will be at the opera house all this week. New songs, dances and specialties.

ADDICTED TO MARRIAGE.

Experience of a Spanish Girl Not Yet Thirty.

The Spanish journals relate the perhaps unparalleled matrimonial experiences of a young Spanish woman named Isabella Caporal, who in six years has lost by death six husbands, and now awaits in modest patience her wedding day with a seventh. In 1894 Senorita Isobel, then a young girl of 21, migrated to New Orleans, and soon married a theatrical manager named Freeman, who died in a few months from yellow fever during a starring tour. In order to better to conduct the company his widow, after a few weeks, married one of the actors, a Spaniard named Hany, who was fatally stabbed on their wedding night, while trying to mediate in a brawl in the boarding house. Three weeks later another of the actors led her blushing to the altar. He was a Mexican named Lopez, with whom the offended laws of his country had a crow to pluck. Arrested, he sought escape by leaping from a train, was killed, and for the third time in twelve months poor Isobel became a widow. Very soon, however, a fourth husband came along. He was an American named Knight,

The Tennessee Farmer, (published at Nashville) reached our desk very much improved to every respect. It has a very attractive new front page head, new department heads, and is better printed than ever, and on better paper. The departments cover the entire farm in agriculture, horticulture, live stock, dairy, apiary, poultry and the household. It has been in existence twice as long as any other agriculture paper ever established in the State. It is now in its twenty-first year. Its recent reorganization has materially benefited it in its reading matter. It is now full of matter of interest to the farmers of this country, and being the only agricultural paper in the State, should be well patronized.

It is cheap enough, too, only $1 per year. The publisher, Mr. W. G.
